REPORT.

THE Committee of the Colonial and Continental Church Society feel it incumbent upon them to lay before the subscribers and friends of the Mission to the Coloured People in Canada, a Special Report of the affairs of the Mission, although the general control of the work is carried on as a part of the ordinary operations of the Society since the closing of the Ladies' Committee.

The Mission Fund has been, as promised in the last Report, kept as a distinct fund, and, with some slight changes, has been distributed as it hitherto has been.

Evidence is shown in the extracts given in another part of the Report, from the Agents' letters, that a special agency is still needed for ministering to these once down-trodden and oppressed people. In Canada the numbers have to a certain extent decreased, but those that remain require more earnest attention.

But little information will be found concerning the Windsor Mission, as Rev. J. Hurst has been in England during the past year collecting funds for the enlargement and completion of his church. Mr. Hurst has been most successful in this endeavour, and hopes before long to be enabled to report that Windsor has become entirely self-supporting—no longer a Mission district but a settled parish. Towards this end the aid rendered to Mr. Hurst by the Coloured Mission Fund in past years has largely contributed, and although the grant to Windsor is now borne by the General Fund of the Society, the friends of the Coloured Mission may feel that Mr. Hurst still takes as much interest as ever in the cause of the Coloured people, and with the assistance of his family is still carrying on the Mission work among them.

The school at Dresden has been closed, as the recent school regulations in Canada have given to the Coloured population full rights in the National Schools. Mr. Hughes continues to labour as diligently and as usefully as ever.

The Committee of the Colonial and Continental Church Society would appeal to the friends of this Mission still to continue their efforts, as the work is not yet completed. The rapid decrease in the Reserve Fund caused by the falling off in the annual receipts, which has reduced the income below the necessary expenditure, is a cause to them of great regret; and their General Funds are so fully occupied, and so many appeals have been necessarily refused, that there is no prospect of the present agency being maintained except by help specially given for the purpose.

On reference to the financial statement the amount of donations and subscriptions will be seen to be only 285*l.* 14*s.* 8*d.*, about 53*l.* 18*s.* 0*d.* less than last year; while the expenditure in grants to the Agents has been 385*l.* 10*s.* 0*d.*, which has again caused the Committee to draw upon the already small Reserved Fund of the Mission.

The Committee feel the Reports of the Agents will be found full of useful information, showing the value of the work carried on.

(1.) WINDSOR.

All Saints VIEW OF WINDSOR CHURCH. 1870

As the Rev. J. Hurst was unable to give a detailed Report of his Mission in consequence of his absence in this country collecting funds for this already twice enlarged church, now needing further enlargement, he has forwarded us a letter from his daughter, who has long been an earnest worker among the coloured people under her father's care.

Mr. Hurst thus writes as to the result of his tour in England :—

"The collection for the enlargement of my church has amounted to something over 900*l.*, as may be seen by the account in the Society's office; besides this I have spent 20*l.* on commission for my parishioners, bringing up the net amount of the collection to 920*l.* I need not say that I feel very thankful for this result of my appeal, and I take this opportunity of thanking the Committee, through you, for the encouragement my appeal has received from them. You will see from the above statement that the condition on which the Committee kindly promised me a grant of 50*l.* has been fulfilled, and I shall he glad if they will carry out this proposal, as the amount of 1,000*l.* must be raised, or a debt will remain on the church."

Miss Hurst writes :—

"I have intended to write this little Report to you for some time, and have begun, but something has always happened to interrupt me.

SUNDAY MORNING.

"I will begin my account with Sunday morning, when we have our Coloured Sunday School. There are about sixty scholars and eight teachers, counting old Father Cole (negro). Mr. Bartlett is superintendent, and teaches the class of men and women. In my class I have ten girls from fifteen to eighteen years old; they are all very interesting girls, and seem to take such a delight in their lessons. Mr. Lawson (an emigrant from London last summer) has a class of boys, and is, I know, a very earnest teacher.

SEEKING THE PEOPLE.

"Some time ago we had a Meeting of the teachers, and divided the coloured part of the town into wards, each of us taking one. In that way we found several families where the children went to no school, and their ignorance something dreadful, actually heathens.

IGNORANCE AND WANT.

"One little boy I remember had never heard that there was a God, and was amazed when told of Jesus; he is now a regular attendant at Sunday-school. In some houses we found them in want of clothing, and after supplying their wants induced them to come to school; in several cases the parents come with their children. Our school is slowly but very surely increasing.

OUR MOTHERS' MEETING.

"Now I must tell you about my class. I have it still on Monday and Thursday. Most of the women are very regular, but I am sorry to say several of my best and oldest scholars have left Windsor. Mrs. J—— is in Toronto, Mrs. H—— has joined her husband in California, and others are in different parts of the States. They can however (I am happy to say) all write.

AN ATTENTIVE SCHOLAR.

"Mrs. H—— has written very good letters two or three times. I can hardly believe that she did not know a letter when she first came to the class; now she reads very well, and you would be surprised to see her letters.

ALWAYS PLEASANT FACES.

"At times I have hesitated when it looked cold or dismal before going to the class, thinking perhaps the women will not be there, but I have never found it the case; there are always some pleased, kind faces ready to greet me; they are just like children, so simple in their ideas.

A HAPPY DEATH.

"I don't know whether you knew a woman called Aunty. She has been very ill for a long time. About two months ago she sent for me to go and read with her; poor thing, she suffered fearfully, but was wonderfully patient and happy. She died last week, after being in great agony for many hours. There have been several deaths lately among them—consumption in most cases."

(2.) DRESDEN.

The Rev. T. Hughes, after writing fully to the Committee a Report on an important decision given by the Courts in reference to an institution intended for aiding the coloured people, advises that the school should be closed which has so long been carried on under his superintendence. The Committee fully agreed with Mr. Hughes' view of the matter, and the school was closed Jan. 1st, 1870.

Mr. Hughes writes :—

SCHOOL CLOSED.

"Now this Institute litigation is closed, and the common school dispute settled by the Legislature, ample provision will shortly be made for the educational wants of the coloured people here. I would therefore respectfully submit to the Committee whether the time has not now arrived to close our Mission School. For the past ten years it has been the only one open to coloured children, and has been the means under God of doing an incalculable amount of good, but it would not be wise to continue it after the necessity for it has passed away. I would suggest that it be kept open only till the 1st of January next, after which the common schools of this township cannot legally be closed against coloured children. With regard to Mr. Highgate, our teacher, he was engaged subject to such a contingency. I have explained to him the great probability of the school being shortly closed, and he desires me to state that he places himself entirely in the hands of the Committee.

SOME CHANGES FELT.

"The regular work of the Mission has gone on much as usual during the past quarter. There has been, I think, a slight increase in the congregations, but nothing has occurred calling for special remark. I may, however, mention that I think we are just beginning to feel the effects of the great change that the overthrow of slavery has brought about. Several coloured families, long resident in this locality, have recently left for the States; amongst them, I am sorry to say, some of the steadiest members of my congregation, and others contemplate going shortly.

NO INCREASE OF COLOURED PEOPLE EXPECTED.

"It is perhaps too early yet to hazard an opinion as to what effect the abolition of slavery in the United States will have upon the coloured population in this neighbourhood, but it is clear that it will receive no further accessions from the South, and it is not unlikely that it may slowly decline. The steady flow of white settlers into this section of the country and the consequent rise in price of the land will also tend to bring about this result. The coloured people cannot hold their own against the ever-advancing tide of white immigration, and it is a sad reflection upon the Christianity of the dominant race that it has little or no sympathy for them.

ANOTHER MISSIONARY.

"I am happy to be able to report that the Bishop has at length found himself able to send another Missionary into this county. He is located at Rothwell, about twenty miles from here, and to him has been given Kent Bridge, the station which you are aware I have supplied with a service on alternate Sunday evenings for more than two years past. There are a good many Church people in this newly constituted Mission, but having been left so long without the administration of the Church, the love of many for our beloved Lord has waxed cold. The Missionary has an arduous post before him.

WILL TAKE UP NEW WORK.

"Being now relieved of Kent Bridge, if my health will permit, I purpose shortly taking up some other destitute station within reach of Dresden. Our Church is very weak throughout the whole of this section of Canada, and I fear every year is becoming more so. The clergy are so few in number, and so widely separated, that they can hold little or no intercourse with each other; and the scattered members of the Church, being for the most part without any ministerial supervision, either become indifferent to religion or lose their affection for the Church of their fathers. I do not see how it is to be remedied; the hands of our Bishop are tied down for want of funds, and where are these to he obtained? Some of the Societies at home are gradually withdrawing their aid; sadly too soon, I think, so that ground hitherto occupied can scarcely be maintained, much less new ground taken up.

A SICKLY SEASON.

"The fall of the year in this low and undrained part of Canada is usually rather sickly, and though, not so bad this last year, we have had a great deal of fever and ague amongst us, and some few cases of typhoid. One painful death from the latter has just occurred. It was that of perhaps the most well-to-do coloured man in this township. He was an industrious, saving man, hut one who thought only of this world. Only a few weeks ago he was harvesting on Sunday (the weather being somewhat uncertain), and, what was worse, hoasted of it. A week or so after this he was struck down with fever, and, heariug of his illness, I visited him. I saw his case was dangerous, but certainly did not think his end was so near. I spoke plainly and seriously to him, directing him to look to Jesus as the Saviour of sinners. Two days after, a great change took place, he laid apparently unconscious, and his end was evidently drawing nigh. A sorrowing group was gathered round his bed, and, after repeating some suitahle texts of Scripture, commended him in earnest prayer to God. He lingered till the following day, when he breathed his last, leaving behind him a widow and a large family of young children."

(3.) LONDON.

Two students of the Huron College still continue their visits to the coloured population in this town, and in this way are receiving practical training for their future labours as ministers of the Gospel.

Messrs. Barr and Davis thus report:—

"It is our duty again to lay before you a statement of our labours among the coloured people of the city of London, in going from house to house reading the Holy Scriptures and engaging in prayer. After reading a portion of Holy Writ, we always make some comments upon it suitable to the wants and capacities of our hearers. We also distribute tracts among them. As the coloured people are almost entirely Dissenters, the services of the Church of England being apparently not suited to their mode of thinking and acting, we find that the only way in which we can really benefit them is by co-operating with their own ministers in urging them to attend on the ordinances of the Gospel in their own places of worship; to give of their means, as God has blessed them, towards the support of that Gospel, and by pointing them to the redemption wrought out by Christ. Many of the children are not able to go to school for want of clothes. We have been able to supply a few families with some old clothes, but could not meet all the demands made upon us. Owing to the great length and inclemency of this winter, a good deal of sickness has prevailed among the coloured people here, who are generally in poor circumstances, and ill provided for a long winter siege. In Canada the negro finds it difficult to get employment when there is a dearth of labour, owing to the prejudice against their colour; a white man can get employment when a coloured man cannot.

"Death has diminished our numbers since we sent in our last Report. A Mrs. Logan has passed away to her final resting place. The last enemy did not take her by surprise or unprepared, for she had been long looking for the end of her earthly existence in the firm hope of a glorious reward in the inheritance of the saints. We earnestly trust, and have strong reason to hope, that our labours have not been in vain, but have been blessed to some of them. A few days ago, in the course of our usual round of visits, we called on a family that had lately come to the city. The house presented a scene of squalid misery that could hardly be equalled in the lowest haunts of old London. Grouped around the most miserable apology for a stove, hardly heated by a few expiring embers, was a large family clothed in rags and dirt, and from the appearance of the house and everything in it one would judge that they were in a state of extreme poverty. The father of the family, who said he was blind and not able to work, told us a most piteous tale of want and misery, hardly credible had not the spectacle presented to our sight borne witness to his statements. After pointing them to Jesus Christ, as their only solace in this world and hope for the world to come, we procured them a supply of bread sufficient for several days. We afterwards found, on inquiry, that we had been deceived. The man, we were told, made a great deal of money by fortune-telling, and it would seem that they spend their money in drinking—hence their wretched condition. We will be visiting in that direction again shortly, and will endeavour to impress upon them how exceeding sinful in the sight of God is the course they pursue, and show them its consequences. But although there are many who are not yet under the influences of religion, there are, however, a large number of earnest, devoted, and well-instructed Christians among them who adorn the doctrine of Christ by a consistent walk. Oh, that the good seed may take root in many more hearts and bring forth fruit unto perfection.

AN ESCAPE FROM SLAVERY.

"An interesting instance may be cited:—A woman, who had been born and brought up in slavery, feeling the yoke of bondage press heavily upon her, was determined to make her escape from her cruel task-masters, and fly to the land of liberty. After several ineffectual attempts, she at last succeeded in evading their pursuit; and, having purchased a ticket, took her seat in a train going North. And now she feared that she might be questioned by some of the passengers, who, finding her to be a fugitive slave, would send her back again into captivity. Presently a boy vending papers came towards her, from whom she purchased a paper, and, holding her head down, pretended to be reading attentively. But now it struck her that she was in as great a difficulty as before; she could not read, and she did not know whether she had the right side of the paper up or not, and some one might observe how she was holding the paper. An expedient, however, struck her. Looking over the paper she found the picture of a boot, and now she thought that, having the top of the boot up, she would have the right side of the paper up. After several narrow escapes, she at last set foot on British soil; and since her arrival in London, although an old woman when she came, she has learned to read and write hy dint of great perseverance.

"May God give us His grace that we may be faithful and useful lahourers in His vineyard."

H. Diocese of Toronto.

(1.) TORONTO.

The work among the coloured population in this diocese is still continued. Mr. Beatty, who has been appointed to succeed Mr. Hall, who is now working in another part of the diocese as a clergyman, continues his house-to-house visits both among the coloured and emigrant population, dividing his time between them.

Mr. Beatty writes:—

"I am on the whole well received by all, and many of my visits were to Roman Catholics. Generally I have some religious conversation, read a portion of God's Word, with prayer, leaving behind me some tracts or religious paper. Each week I visit the gaol and gaol hospital, and each Sunday I hold a short service there, at half-past two o'clock. In visiting the prisoners, I have many opportunities of speaking a few words to persons who when outside would not hear a word of reproof, or of invitation to cease to do evil, and learn to do well; but when in prison they are sober and willing to hear, and many promise to do better after leaving the gaol. Since last Report, three persons have returned to paths of virtue; one to service. Her mistress will see to her, and allow her to attend the means of grace each Sunday; and she has a Bible, a gift of her mother; she now promises to read it, and to follow its rules. May the Holy Spirit give her grace so to do. And another has gone home again; she lives near Newmarket; she promises, with the strength of the Lord, to lead a new life. The third is gone to the Magdalene Asylum, there to be out of temptation's way. These are a few facts that encourage me to work for Jesus, who said, 'Occupy till I come.' Each week I visit the General Hospital here. I have many opportunities of reading to and speaking a word of comfort to the sick and dying of Jesus, the sinners' friend. I meet with many strangers from the country or emigrants, who are very lonely, and they value a visit much. I often think of the portion which says, 'I was a stranger and ye took me in, sick and ye visited me.'

"I may mention one fact connected with the Hospital. A girl was admitted; I visited her several times; she wished me to come often to see her. One day a woman in the next bed told me that Jane (for that was her name) had been a Protestant, but lived with a Roman Catholic family, and then left the Protestant Church and went to the Roman Catholic. At first she said her prayers on her beads, but now she is going to burn them. I saw her several times, and now I have the beads, and have given her a small Testament in exchange. She is now well, and promises to read God's Word, and live near her dear Saviour. I read many portions bearing on Christ's finished work and mediation. May God bless her and keep her in the right path that leads to glory. I visit emigrants on their arrival in our city; read and ask a blessing on them in this strange land, invite them to Church, and their children to the Sunday-school, advise them always to keep from strong drink; and if I can do them any good, I do it. In this way I strive to find situations for some. How it cheers the heart of an emigrant for a person to take an interest in them. There are many to lead astray, and few to advise them to do right.

"These last three months I have induced the heads of five families to begin family prayer, and I got them a form for a week. May a blessing follow this part of my work. I also found three families without a Bible; I have supplied them. One of them bought one at 75 cents; the other two were too poor, so I gave them one each.

"This month I circulated about 5,000 tracts in visiting and otherwise; and now I ask a blessing on all my work. May the Lord bless His own word, and cause it to bear fruit in the lives of many for His dear Son's sake."

ORO.

The Rev. R. H. Harris reports :—

A SAD EVENT.

"Since my last Report a sad event has thrown a gloom over the coloured people in Oro. The most intelligent and influential man among them has passed away to his rest. He was much respected and beloved, and I believe that, though illiterate, he was a devoted and sincere Christian. I found him a most valuable assistant in many ways. He had been ailing for some months, but was seized with his last illness in October; he lingered without much suffering, gradually fading away, and at length breathed his last, trusting in the merits of his Redeemer. I visited him during his illness, and always found him, though poor, cheerful and contented with his lot; but for his trust in Christ, his would have been an unenviable lot. Oh the curse, the blight of slavery, that has doomed so many thousands in past years to hopeless bondage and misery! Slavery, it is true, has been, by legal enactment, abolished in the neighbouring United States, but no human mind can remove its dire effects upon its unhappy victims who are yet alive. Mere children in their experience of life, they are, by the gift of freedom, thrown upon the world, but ill prepared for its temptations, difficulties, and care of providing for their own wants, and will be, at least for one generation, almost as great objects of pity as their heathen forefathers in Africa.

THE CONGREGATION.

"The elder members of my congregation have been either escaped slaves or have purchased their freedom, and in their state of bondage, in addition to gross ignorance and superstition, have been imbued with a suspicion almost amounting to hatred of the whites.

"At their request I preached a funeral sermon on the occasion of the death of poor old Turner, and I hope I was enabled to impress a solemn lesson upon their minds. I have an increasing congregation of blacks and whites, who freely mix at my service, there being no prejudice of colour here. I have strong hopes that the seed sown in tears and much weakness will bring forth fruit to His praise and glory, to whom be ascribed all the praise.

"The first snow fell here on October 15, and we have had sleighing ever since. We may therefore look forward to a long and expensive winter, as it probably will not break up until the first week in April. This coming so early and remaining so long, will make travelling through my extensive Mission very laborious, especially in the snowdrifts, when I have three services every Sunday many miles apart. I must not, however, repine, but trust in my Heavenly Father, who has hitherto graciously helped me through many fatigues and dangers in the Missionary field!

SUPERSTITIOUS PEOPLE.

"The blacks in Oro under my charge are either slaves or their descendants; they are very ignorant, superstitious, and helpless as children. I enjoy their entire confidence, and receive many proofs of their esteem and affection. Last Saturday week I visited one, an old man, and very pious, who from his infirmities was unable to attend Church. I was much pleased with his calm resignation to his Heavenly Father's will, but could not help reflecting with indignation upon the remorseless cupidity of the whites, who have in past years doomed so many thousands of these poor people to a life of brutal ignorance, degradation, and sin, and that in a professedly Christian land.

A HARD DAY'S WORK.

"The next day, Sunday, I held Divine service in their Church, and had an overflowing congregation, many of them whites. I preached according to my custom, with studied simplicity of language, and was listened to with deep attention. Duty among them is very fatiguing, as the country is so rough that I cannot travel with a horse, except at intervals, and walking across clearings, skirting the bush, climbing rail fences, &c., when visiting them (to say nothing of travelling thirty miles on Sunday), is most exhausting work. It is also expensive, as I am obliged to pay for my lodging in the neighbourhood, for these poor Indians are so impoverished that they could not accommodate me. A short time ago I had a conversation with Rev. E. Forbes, a delegate from the Parent Society to Canada, and from his remarks I inferred that the Society would probably withdraw its grant to me. If it is withdrawn it will be a great loss, in fact I shall be obliged to discontinue my services among the blacks, it being quite a source of expense to continue them; indeed, I could not do it out of my scanty income. This I should regret exceedingly, as I believe a good work is going on among them, and they would thus be left wholly destitute in spiritual things."

The Committee conclude by expressing their most thankful acknowledgments to those who, whether as collectors or contributors, still support this branch of their work. They assure them that they have every reason to feel assured, that their exertions are not in vain; that the help given through them enables faithful men to labour humbly and heartily as the Ministers of Christ among a people who sorely need their ministrations. They ask once more that this special Mission may continue to receive the special help which has been so long given to it.
